

Managed Services

A man in a blue shirt and red bow tie is shouting with his mouth wide open while holding a large, old computer monitor. He is looking at the monitor with a shocked expression. In the background, a woman is sitting at a desk working on a computer.

Are you losing control of your IT service?

Are Your Hands Tied?

You need your business to grow and it's your job to extend the current capabilities of your department while reducing operating costs and without adding staff.

You're probably tasked with maximizing the use of each employee in your various departments infrastructure, while addressing IT challenges and focusing on a growing business.

We'll Give You a Hand and Get You Back in Control

We only manage what you want managed meaning
- YOU'RE IN CONTROL

You can get back to focusing on your business while we focus on areas such as:

- Service desk
- Operations management
- Security management
- Service level management
- Solution management
- Application management
- Configuration and change management
- Availability and continuity management
- Performance and capacity management

Teamwork Divides the Task and Doubles the Success.

Teamwork and openness is the key to success. We learned this a long time ago. Its out job to extend the current capabilities of your business while reducing operating costs without adding Staff, we add efficiency to your business.

We focus on prevention. By assessing your entire IT environment we can identify and manage risk for continuous improvements in your IT environment.

We will work with you and your existing partners and resources to become a valued extension of your staff with our specialized experts and not as a replacement. We will support you from basic monitoring services to managing complex applications, security and storage. You don't have to hire an army of specialists to solve your problems.

You are also getting our skilled technical know-how. Needless to say we are systems company that offers expertise and countless products from chips and boards to servers, system software, applications software and storage.

Pick a Hand, Any Hand.

Do you associate with these dilemmas?

- You need to get the most out of application availability for your dispersed organization.

Our managed services can place our skilled technicians who know your computer environment to quickly respond to any problems that may occur. We take you're a proactive and serious approach to managing your computer environment 24-7.

- You're trying to juggle IT challenges while staying focused on tactical ideas.

With us you are able to focus on your core business and projects. Our remote monitoring and management services identify the problems before they happen. Our experts respond quickly to any alerts, execute changes, and manage vendors. We want your companies technology running smoothly so your business can run smoothly also.

- You want to maintain control of business-critical systems with flexible services that fit your requirements.

Remember we only manage what YOU want managed. You are in control at all times. We work with you to work out a package that works with your company and its needs. You can adjust the magnitude at any time your business needs change.

Teamwork divides the task and doubles the success

We can help you:

- Reduce IT operating costs
- Improve service and security levels
- Enhance system management capabilities
- Achieve higher systems availability
- Extend your current capabilities without adding extra staff
- Manage change while staying focused on your core capabilities
- Improve dexterity to meet business needs

At Comnet Systems, Inc., we want you to think of our services not as an expense but as an investment.

Call and give us the opportunity to demonstrate our skills, resourcefulness, and compatibility. It is our pleasure to help you and give you professional advice.

10950 Pellicano Dr. Suite C1
El Paso, TX, 79935
Ph. (915) 590-7322 - Fax (915) 590-7192
Email: comments@comnetusa.com